Brief COVID Updates

June 20, 2022

We have good news to share! A COVID-19 vaccination has now been approved for children under five years old. Kids six months and up are eligible to be vaccinated. Although most children who contract the coronavirus have mild illnesses, COVID-19 infections in children can be dangerous and even life threatening. Vaccination is the best way to protect your children. If you have questions, call your pediatrician or reach out to our Health Advocate, Lang Xiong at (414) 465-9504.
